Thanks guys. Here is the latest version – the black slides have been cut. I will work into the website document where to link to this. Any additional comments or suggestions are welcome.

I agree as well -that was my initial reaction.

I agree the 5 black slides need to be cut.

So, this is an example of something I think we can describe with a statement like:

Power point describing 404 assumption: the process, requirements and administration

Or

How can I explain 404 assumption to my constituents or management?

and then link to this document as a PDF as we would not want the PDF in the body of the webpage.

I will review for accuracy and public availability.

Thanks Andy. - Kathy

Hi Kathy and Ruth,
Here is an updated, complete 101 PPT that could be posted on the website. Question – there are 5 black-background slides in the middle that maybe should be cut for the website version – what do you think?

My procedure for preparing this slideshow: I went through and compared the “basic” and “rule workgroup” versions. The workgroup version was more complete and recent, but had some extra material in the appendix that was already in the body. I removed that.

Best,
Andy

So let's find or create a version that is correct.

Hi Kathy,
I think that's a good idea. It would be a clear way to convey the main points about assumption.

Note; This “basic” version may have errors – e.g the graphic on the timeline is sideways. The other version that was sent around looked more complete and correct.

What do you both think of getting OGC approval on this PPT and having it available under the general Q&A section of the webpage? This is a basic overview and might be useful???

Andy, the permit process schematic is the last slide in this PPT. - Kathy
